More Builders in Broward

FT. LAUDERDALE — The Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch has many generous friends in Broward County, including the people pictured on this page receiving Boys Ranch Builder Certificates from Sheriff Allen B. Michell. Builder certificates confer special recognition upon donors who have given gifts to the Ranch valued at $100 or more. They also serve as an expression of appreciation from the Florida Sheriffs Association and the Boys Ranch.

51 Notches . . . And No Gun

LIVE OAK—"Deacon" doesn't carry a gun, but if he did it would have 51 notches on it for the 51 fugitives he has captured.

He's a bloodhound, and his weapon is a sensitive nose that is famous in both law enforcement and criminal circles up and down the Suwannee River valley.

According to his "boss", Suwannee County Sheriff Duke McCallister, what makes Deacon such a good bloodhound is that he very seldom tires or loses the scent and never barks while on the trail of an escapee.

"He's the best I've ever seen and most of the escapees know it," said Sheriff McCallister. "I've never put him on a live track where he's picked up the scent and failed to follow the trail."

Only six years old, Deacon was purchased by the Sheriff in 1965 from a prisoner at the Suwannee County Road Camp who had taught him most of his tracking skills.

Recently the Sheriff turned down an offer of $500 for his valued four-legged deputy. "If he meant that much to them," Sheriff McCallister said, "he surely means that much to us."

On numerous occasions Deacon has been taken into neighboring counties to pick up a trail and catch an escapee after other dogs have failed.

Last summer he trailed three escapees some 43 miles through thick undergrowth, streams, swamps and fields before capturing them.

It's a safe bet that fugitives, deputy sheriffs and Deacon were all panting when that mission was completed.

BOYS RANCH IS ALWAYS WINNER

CLEARWATER — The Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch is always "the winner" — at least financially — when General George H. Beverly and his friends play a round of golf at Clearwater Country Club. They send all their winnings to the Ranch and Gen. Beverly adds some additional funds by charging $2 a ride for anyone going 18 holes with him in his golf cart. He also throws in some valuable publicity by displaying a Florida Sheriffs Association 10-year Honorary Member tag on his golf cart. Three of the Ranch supporters are shown in this picture. They are (from left) Lou Carll, W. E. Peterson and Gen. Beverly.

Sheriffs Eyeing New Breed of Bootlegger

With Florida's new 15-cent cigarette tax now in effect, Sheriffs face the problem of cracking down on "cigarette bootleggers" who smuggle in "no tax" (or low tax) cigarettes from other states.

Cities are getting 11 cents on each pack of cigarettes sold inside corporate limits, an increase of 3 cents per pack. Counties are sharing in the tax for the first time, receiving 3 cents on each pack sold in unincorporated areas.

Estimated new revenue amounts to $6,358,000 for counties; and $15,774,000 for cities. Bootleggers, however, could steal millions from the State and cut this figure drastically. Their take in New York State has been estimated at $60,000,000 per year.

"Old Timers" Trade Blows For Boys Ranch

PENSACOLA — There's hardly any limit to what a Sheriff will do to raise money for the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch, and the April cover proves it.

The cover picture shows Escambia County Sheriff Bill Davis in boxing trunks having his hands wrapped by Sgt. O. V. Regan while his son, Bill Davis, Jr., picks up a few pointers.

Shortly after this picture was taken the 39-year-old Sheriff entered the boxing ring with former pro Tommy Hatcher and swapped punches in an "Old Timers Night" boxing bout that raised funds for the Ranch.

Early in the third round, Sheriff Davis won the bout by felling his opponent with a right cross to the jaw.

Then brawny deputies added a slapstick climax by carrying off the loser on a stretcher decorated with a "Vote for Bill Davis" sign.

Promoters of Pensacola's Wednesday night fights came up with the "Old Timers Night" idea, and one of them, Sgt. Bill Lynch, a deputy sheriff, recalled that his boss had once been a Golden Gloves battler.

When Sheriff Davis was approached, he agreed to participate; and, at his suggestion, the boxing feature was presented as a benefit for the Boys Ranch.

The card included five professional bouts with some of the South's most promising prizefighters; and it also included some amateur bouts featuring youngsters 9 and 10 years old.

The "old timers" portion of the program, brought back to the ring Judge Walter Lagergren and Pensacola Policeman Freddy De Franco in addition to the men pictured on this page.

Respect for the Law Comes from the Heart

An address presented by Pinellas County Sheriff Don Genung Before the Florida Council of Independent Schools in Tampa.

Today, thousands of Americans live in fear. They fear for their lives, the safety of their families, their homes, and their businesses. The cause of their fear is "Crime on the Streets."

Without a doubt, crime is rapidly becoming our nation's number one internal problem. Many Americans take comfort in the view that crime is the vice of a handful of people. This view is inaccurate. In the United States today, one boy in six is referred to the juvenile court. A recent government survey shows in one year more than two million Americans were received in prison or juvenile training schools, or placed on probation. Another government survey suggests that about 40 per cent of all male children now living in the United States will be arrested for an offense other than traffic during their lifetime.

For example, last year three-fourths of all arrests were of people less than 25 years old—the largest segment being 15 years of age.

An independent survey of 1,700 persons found that 91 per cent admitted they had committed acts for which they might have received jail or prison sentences.

In my humble opinion this puts the responsibility for mounting delinquency squarely on the parents' shoulders—lack of parental control is the precipitating factor. They either will not discipline their youngsters or do not provide a proper example. The breakdown of the family structure through divorces and otherwise is material to this problem. Hiring more policemen or giving them better salaries, or furnishing them with improved scientific techniques will ease the situation, but is not going to stop the crime problem. You might just as well stand by the seashore and sweep back the tide with a broom.

The answer is—we need a moral awakening in this generation. We need to get away from the teachings in some of these universities that condone free love, free behavior, and child psychology which mocks stern discipline. This encourages the youngsters to become "hippies." It makes for a society of nothings.

An enormous variety of acts make up the crime problem. Crime is not just the tough teenager, snatching the old woman's purse, but also includes the professional thief stealing cars "on order." It is the well-heeled loan shark taking over a previously legitimate business for organized crime. It is the corporation executive conspiring with competitors to keep prices high. No single formula, no single theory, can explain the vast range of behavior called crime.

Many Americans think controlling crime is solely the task of the police, the courts, and correction agencies. The president's commission on law enforcement makes it clear that crime cannot be controlled without the interest and participation of schools, businesses, social agencies, private groups and individual citizens.

We cannot create respect for the law by passing laws. It's an attitude that can only originate in man's heart. He needs to be inspired. The parents, the schools and universities, our churches, civic clubs, our government, our movie-makers, playwrights, authors and the press—the mass news media which molds public opinion—these agencies hold the key—the answer to our future.

It has been the sad experience of law enforcement to note that the first act of delinquent behavior is all too often the forerunner of increasingly serious crimes. The stairway from delinquency to crime is but a few short steps. If you examine their records, you will find that many of today's vicious criminals committed yesterday's burglaries. The petty thefts of last year, and the acts of vandalism the year before. The process of criminal development is a depressing and disheartening one. We, in law enforcement, are charged with stemming the tide of crime: that is our job. But, the tide of juvenile crime will become overwhelming unless preventative action is taken in the one place where it will do the most good. We believe that our Pinellas County Sheriff's Junior Deputies League, taught in the school system of Pinellas County, is one of the most important facets in building respect for law enforcement and curbing youth crime and delinquency.

The building respect theory for law enforcement, first, had to be accomplished by each and every member of the Pinellas

County Sheriff's Department projecting to one and one-half million residents the thought that they appreciated their home, their family, their church, their community, and, mostly, the privilege of being law enforcement officers. And, secondly, this was accomplished by forming a Youth Aid Bureau with a group of career detectives who were specially trained and who began to teach respect for law enforcement at the 6th grade level in the public schools of our county. We are assisted by representatives from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Florida Highway Patrol, State Conservation and Game Wardens, and municipal law enforcement agents of Pinellas County, as well as members of our judiciary, who teach their individual duties in upholding the law.

In 1959 we succeeded in teaching this respect for law enforcement course in 8 of the 6th grades in the elementary schools of our county and some 8 years later, in 1967, we are proud to say we are now teaching this course in all of the 75 elementary 6th grades and have sworn in some 31,157 students to date.

A group of leading businessmen, as well as interested citizens of our county, have raised over $60,000 so that this program might financially exist. Our records show, excluding the colleges, that Pinellas County has some 72,207 students in school and in 1966 only 92 boys and girls were adjudicated by our Juvenile Judge to spend time at the state training schools.

Of these 92 boys and girls, only 22 had been involved in the junior deputies program. Certainly, this is an outstanding record in the State of Florida, as well as the nation, and portrays the cooperative and diligent work being done by the Juvenile Court and counselors, the various youth aid bureaus and police departments, as well as the hand-up given by civic, service, church and fraternal organizations.

The Pinellas County Sheriff's Junior Deputies League story is fantastic, to say the least, and, if humanly possible, must be brought to the attention of every law enforcement agency in the United States.

We realize that crime cannot be controlled by a single panacea. One thing, however, is evident. It must be attacked at the "cross roads" and in the "grass roots," and we believe this program does just that.

BOYS RANCH

Round-Up

News about the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch, a home for needy and worthy boys the Florida Sheriffs Association is operating on the Suwannee River near Live Oak, Florida.

FIRE TRUCK FOR BOYS RANCH

Alachua County Sheriff Joe Crevasse, Jr., (right) and Deputy Sheriff Tiny Scales check over a fire truck donated to the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch by the Hialeah Fire Department. It will be housed in the new fire station at the Ranch and will replace a fire engine of more ancient vintage.

Workshop for Staff

The job of raising boys—especially in large quantities like 100—takes a lot of training and experience, and staff members at the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch are getting plenty of both.

One day each month they hold a training workshop under the direction of Mrs. Lila Haggins, instructor from the Florida State University School of Social Welfare.

Gaining experience is an everyday affair.

Just Saints to Us

CAPE CORAL—Proceeds from a $10-a-plate charter night dinner were donated to the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch and the Seminole Indian Education Fund by the Connie Mack Chapter of Circus Saints & Sinners.

The newly-chartered southwest Florida "tent" was officially named in honor of "Mister Mack," grand old man of baseball who died in 1956 at the age of 93. U.S. Congressman Ed Gurney was "roasted" as the tent's first "fall guy."

MAJOR CONTRIBUTORS

ST. AUGUSTINE—St. John's County Sheriff L. O. Davis, Jr., expressed the appreciation of the Florida Sheriffs Association and the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch to two St. Augustine ladies who made large contributions to the Ranch. In the top photo Mrs. Floyd Boyd accepts a lifetime honorary membership in the Sheriffs Association. The bottom photo shows Mrs. A. H. Tebault, Sr., accepting a membership in the Boys Ranch Builder's Club.

Good Records Keeper

ORLANDO—The accounts and records of Orange County Sheriff Dave Starr were found to be in good condition when they were audited by Ernest Ellison, the state's Legislative Auditor.

The audit covered the period from June 1, 1965, through March 31, 1967.

Ellison made these remarks in a report to the Governor and the Legislature: "The financial condition of the office on March 31, 1967, was good. Expenditures were kept within approved budgets. Annual reports of receipts and expenditures were filed promptly. Records were well kept and internal control was generally good. . ."

State Should Share Cost of Local Law Enforcement

JACKSONVILLE — State Senator John E. Mathews spoke out against formation of a State Police Force, in Florida, and declared that the State, as an alternative, should provide financial support for local law enforcement agencies.

"There is good precedent for it," he added. "Under the Minimum Foundation Program, the State pays local school boards funds for the schools. The State could also provide local governments with money for law enforcement on a simple population basis."

Speaking to a class of some 100 supervisory level law enforcement officers at the Duval County Sheriff's Department Training Academy, he declared that state funds distributed to local law enforcement agencies could be used for larger police forces as well as for training required under the Police Minimum Standards Act of 1967.

The State should share the cost of maintaining local law enforcement agencies if for no other reason than that local agencies spend most of their time enforcing state laws, the Senator said.

National Recognition

TALLAHASSEE—The Leon County Sheriff's Department, headed by Sheriff Bill Joyce, received a Meritorious Service Citation from Official Detective Stories Magazine for skillful investigation of the October, 1967, slaying of Elizabeth Ann Wood and Kay Granger, local high school girls.

The award gives the department "national recognition for achievements in the highest traditions of law enforcement."

Accident Data

An insurance company told the National Highway Safety Bureau that accident data indicates compact autos inflict less serious injuries and property damage than non-compacts.

Conversely, the company said payouts for medical costs for insured compacts are higher, indicating that compacts are less safe than non-compacts for the driver and passengers.

Police and Sheriff's Riot Squads Operate as

ONE TEAM

Tampa—Riot squads from the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Department and the Tampa Police Department have been holding joint crowd control drills so they can meet the threat of riots and other emergencies as "one team." The combined squad, which will include selected teams of the Sheriff's K-9 Unit, is under the supervision of Sheriff's Department Inspector John F. Kirk, Jr., and Police Department Inspector Charles Fisher. Sheriff Malcolm Beard said the county and city squads will be capable of operating jointly or separately.

DOLL OF A JUNIOR DEPUTY

GAINESVILLE—Little Audrey MacClellan, at four years old, is by far the youngest Junior Deputy in Alachua County. Her Dad, Deputy Ed MacClellan, is Director of Sheriff Joe Crevasse's Junior Deputy program and when Audrey's only request of Santa was for a "Sheriff's Shirt" he, of course, obliged with a whole outfit. Her next step was to try out Sheriff Crevasse's desk for size.

OPTIMISTS CHOOSE SHERIFF BEARD FOR OUTSTANDING AWARD

SHERIFF'S DISPLAY AT CITRUS MUTUAL EXPOSITION

WINTER HAVEN—Marksmanship trophies, a firearms display and an appeal for the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch were featured in the display Polk County Sheriff Monroe Brannen presented at the Florida Citrus Mutual Exposition.

RECOGNITION FOR BOYS RANCH SUPPORT

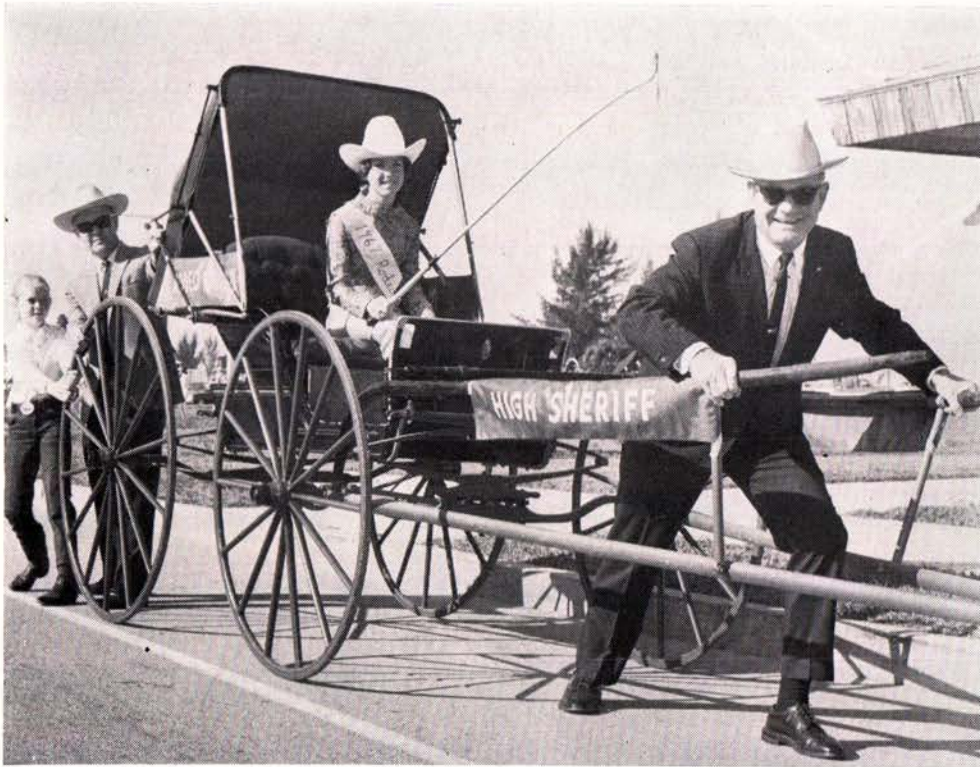

ST. AUGUSTINE—Members of the St. John's County Sheriff's Patrol received special recognition for the outstanding support they have given to the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch when Sheriff L. O. Davis (right) presented a Boys Ranch Builder Certificate to their President, Deputy Sheriff Ed Ponce, Builder Certificates are awarded to major Boys Ranch contributors.

BOYS RANCH SUPPORTERS

This is Thompson Country Podner

FORT MYERS—It's impossible to live here and not know that Flanders G. (Snag) Thompson is the "High Sheriff" of Lee County. Snag's many activities in and out of law enforcement keep him in the limelight much of the time and the unwary stranger will soon discover "it's Thompson Country." Top photo shows him helping to publicize the local Rodeo Parade by taking Rodeo Queen Donna French for a buggy ride, while Mayor Oscar Corbin, Jr., and a member of the Junior Sheriff's Posse hold him back to prevent a violation of the speed limit. In the lower right picture the Sheriff (seated, right) is going over a fund raising plan that will give St. Leo College scholarships to Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch youngsters interested in a career in law enforcement. The men who joined Snag in launching the project are (from left) J. A. Ansley, President and Chairman of the Board of the Lee County Bank; Dean Norman Kaye, in charge of student affairs at St. Leo; and Ft. Myers Police Chief Burl Underhill. The plan was suggested by Ft. Myers News-Press reporter Patrick Kelly who was formerly on the St. Leo staff. The Lee County Bank made the initial contribution of $1,000 to start the campaign. The picture of Deputy Sheriff Ed Weeks with two little girls who were rewarded for honesty after they turned in a billfold and $900 found on Fort Myers Beach proves that Snag is willing to share some of the limelight with his staff.

PENNY HAS A NEW HOME AND A NEW FRIEND

"Penny", a Welsh Pony-Quarter Horse, has a new home at the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch, and a new friend, Rancher Donny Michaels. She was donated to the Boys Ranch by John W. Allen, who lives between Tallahassee and Monticello. He is a State Probation and Parole Supervisor in the Tallahassee District Office.

YOU'D BE DISGUSTED TOO

ST. PETERSBURG — If television personality Ed McMahon looked a bit disgusted when this picture was taken, he had good reason to be. His rented car developed motor trouble in the wee small hours of the morning and he was stranded for almost an hour before Pinellas County Deputy Sheriff Monty Johns came by and "rescued" him. Deputy Johns was unable to get the car started but he summoned a cab which took McMahon to his destination, nearby Port-o-Call. (Photo by Bob Perrow.)

BOYS RANCH WINS AGAIN

TAMPA — When a Plant City civic club held a membership drive, Deputy Sheriff Perry Young was declared the winner of a $125 cash prize. But, the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch was the real winner because Deputy Young unselfishly donated his winnings to give a helping hand to the 100 deserving youngsters at the Ranch. In this picture he's turning the money over to his boss, Hillsborough County Sheriff Malcolm Beard (right), who forwarded it to the Ranch.

TELEVISION VIEWING BETTER THAN EVER AT BOYS RANCH

ORLANDO—Acting upon the recommendation of Orange County Sheriff Dave Starr (left) the Florida Sheriffs Association awarded a Lifetime Honorary Membership to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hagle as a token of appreciation for the five new television sets they donated to the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch at Christmas time. The Hagles reside at 3220 Chelsea Street, Orlando. He is president of Hagle, Inc., an air conditioning equipment outlet in Winter Park.

Michell, Boyer on Education Panel

TALLAHASSEE — Florida Sheriffs Association President P. D. Reddish, Sheriff of Bradford County, announced the appointment of Broward County Sheriff Allen B. Michell and Sarasota County Sheriff Ross E. Boyer to represent the Association on the newly organized State Law Enforcement Education Advisory Committee.

He said he nominated Sheriff Michell as delegate and Sheriff Boyer as alternate; and the appointments were made by Dr. Thomas W. Strickland, Director of the Technical and Health Education Section of the State Department of Education.

Also represented on the committee are The Florida Police Chiefs Association; The Florida Peace Officers Association; The Fraternal Order of Police and The Florida Police Standards Council.

One of the primary functions of the committee will be to develop guidelines for Junior Colleges offering law enforcement courses.

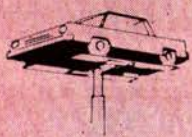

The first meeting of the committee was scheduled for April 16.

Safety Tip

Dimming your headlights is a matter of courtesy both to the driver you are meeting and the driver you are following. Most important of all, however, is the fact that failing to dim your lights can cause serious accidents on the highway.

BOX SCORE FOR THE NATIONAL HIGHWAY SAFETY PROGRAM

When Congress passed the Highway Safety Act of 1966, it created the National Highway Safety Bureau and charged it with formulating standards for state safety programs. Last June, the Bureau came out with 13 standards dealing with state action to improve drivers, vehicles, roads and safety administration. States stand to lose up to 10 per-cent of Federal highway construction funds if they don't satisfy the Bureau that they're rapidly falling in line with the standards. In the past year, nearly every state made some progress toward full implementation of its highway safety program. Here's how the various standards are scoring with the states:

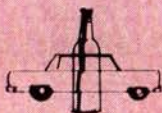

VEHICLE INSPECTION: Thirty-eight states now appear to meet the standard for motor vehicle inspection. Twenty states passed laws in 1967 calling for either periodic inspections or spot checks, and 18 states already had statutes requiring such inspections.

MOTORCYCLES: Seven states passed laws in 1967 which substantially meet the standard for motorcycle safety. Twenty-three other states passed laws in 1967 bringing them into partial conformance.

DRIVER EDUCATION: During 1967, seven states came into conformance and 12 came into partial conformance with the standard for driver education.

DRUNKEN DRIVERS: Six states passed laws in 1967 which appear to meet the standard on alcohol in relation to highway safety. Two states already had such laws. Eighteen additional states have laws which partially meet the standard, six of them on the basis of 1967 legislation.

DRIVER LICENSING: Fifteen states passed 1967 legislation bringing them into partial conformance with the standard for driver licensing, but only one state passed statutes which meet this standard.

ACCIDENT RECORDS: In 1967, two states passed laws that meet the standard on traffic records and four states came into partial conformance.

THE OTHER SEVEN STANDARDS: Nearly every state has yet to take legislative action on the standards dealing with identification and surveillance of accident locations, motor vehicle registration, traffic control devices, emergency medical services, codes and laws, courts, or design, construction and maintenance of highways. In a number of states, however, administrative action can meet some of these standards.
