

JOHN DRIGGERS

TALLAHASSEE — Law Enforcement was impoverished on September 28 by the death of Leon County Deputy Sheriff John Driggers, Jr., 44; but it will also be enriched by the legacy of loyalty and courage which he left behind.

... And He Never Gave Up

Cancer killed John Driggers, but it never actually conquered him. A series of operations and cobalt treatments ravaged his handsome features and strong physique; but somehow he went about his duties month after month, managing to smile and refusing to burden friends with his pain and torment.

Two years ago doctors gave him six months to live. "He outlived the doctors' estimates by a long time," said a fellow deputy, "and he did it on sheer guts."

"He was one hell of a man" said another deputy. "He loved his country and his community. He was never discouraged and he never gave up."

This, perhaps, one would expect from a 20-year Marine veteran and a career law enforcement officer; but John Driggers was more than just a man's man. He was also an innovator.

During the seven years he served under Leon County Sheriff Bill Joyce he was a kingpin in organizing the Sheriff's Mounted Posse and the Sheriff's Security Unit, a well-trained force of volunteers capable of assisting Sheriff Joyce in handling riots and other emergencies.

He was also in charge of Sheriff Joyce's Junior Deputy Program which taught elementary school youngsters the basic principles of law and order. At the time of his death he was Sheriff Joyce's Chief Field Deputy.

In February he was honored by three Tallahassee Optimist Clubs as "The Outstanding Law Enforcement Officer of 1968".

For many years to come he will continue to hold this title in the memories of his many friends and admirers.

Odor Was Familiar — And Illegal

DAYTONA BEACH — Volusia County Deputy Sheriff Granville Weeks was just making a routine traffic check when he stopped a Ford occupied by Nick E. Jakuboweki, 18, and Richard B. Pauli, 19, of Davenport, Iowa.

But, as he stood beside the car Weeks thought he detected a familiar - - - and illegal - - - odor.

Playing his hunch, he asked the two young men if he could search the car, got their permission, and uncovered a large cargo of marijuana.

When he placed Jakuboweki and Pauli under arrest, one of them commented: "We had a call from Daytona Beach that there was a good market for 'grass' (marijuana) down here. So, we picked some, dried it in Iowa, and here we are . . ."

However, instead of taking their crop "to market" the young men were held under $7,500 bond on charges of possession of marijuana - - - and the crop itself was confiscated.

IN GOOD SHAPE

TAVARES — State Legislative Auditor Ernest Ellison found the accounts and records of Lake County Sheriff Willis V. McCall in good shape when they were audited for the period from June 1, 1965, through September 30, 1967.

Mr. Ellison reported that resources were adequate to cover all liabilities of record. Annual reports of income and expenses for each fiscal year were accurate and promptly filed. Budgets were properly prepared and closely followed. Collections of record were accounted for by remittances or by cash on hand; and records were generally well kept.

RELIEF IS ON THE WAY

BROOKSVILLE — There's relief in sight for the unsatisfactory conditions Sheriff Sim Lowman has been contending with at the Hernando County Jail.

The Hernando County Board of County Commissioners has approved a one-mill tax levy which is expected to produce about $86,000 for construction of a jail addition.

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE

On the railroad tracks you cross with your car, there may be just a train or two each day. Don't think this gives you the green light to be careless. One train - - - and your car - - - is all it takes for a highway tragedy.

COMMENDED FOR HEROIC EFFORT TO SAVE SWIMMER IN THE GULF

FT. WALTON BEACH — Wendy Sylvester receives a plaque from Sheriff Ray Wilson and the Okaloosa County Sheriff's Department for her heroic attempt to save the life of a girl who drowned while swimming in the Gulf of Mexico. Sheriff Wilson said Miss Sylvester swam about a half-mile to the girl, brought her ashore and administered mouth to mouth resuscitation until a rescue unit arrived. Pictured (left to right are) Deputy Sheriff George Vilardi, Miss Sylvester, Sheriff Wilson and Investigator Marvin Canova.

OFFICER OF THE YEAR

JUST IN THE LINE OF DUTY

TITUSVILLE — Brevard County Sheriff Leigh Wilson (right) presents an "Exceptional Merit" Award to Deputy Sheriff Gary Barringer for saving the lives of three children overcome with carbon monoxide. The children were stricken when the deadly gas leaked into the car in which they were riding. Deputy Barringer answered a call for help, summoned an ambulance by radio, administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, and revived the children before the ambulance arrived. Once he was sure the youngsters were out of danger, he went on about his business and his life-saving went unnoticed for several days. Finally news media learned about it and "broke the story". THE SHERIFF'S STAR is published monthly by the Florida Sheriffs Association, a non-profit corporation, P. O. Box 1487, Tallahassee, Florida 32302. The subscription rate is $2.50 per year. Second class postage paid at Tallahassee, Florida, and at additional mailing offices.

Still under construction at the time of the dedication rites, the Joe and Frances Diaz Administration Building was largely financed by a fund started by Austin Davis, of Miami, to honor the memory of the late Joe Diaz, one of the early supporters of the Ranch. Mr. Diaz' widow, Mrs. Frances Diaz, of Tampa, was the first woman appointed to the Boys Ranch Board of Trustees and is still serving on the board. Administration offices temporarily housed in the Boys Ranch cafeteria will be moved into the new building when it is completed, thus allowing for further increases in enrollment.

The James P. Towey Foundation built this handsome medical and dental clinic for the Boys Ranch. The gift was originally authorized by Mr. and Mrs. James H. Towey, of St. Petersburg, and Mr. William T. Towey, trustees of the foundation; but Mr. William T. Towey passed away shortly afterward and did not have an opportunity to see the completed facility. His widow is now serving on the foundation board. Mrs. James H. Towey is a member of the Boys Ranch Board of Trustees. Miss Emma Reid, of St. Petersburg, contributed funds to equip one dental unit in the clinic in memory of her sister, Miss Margaret Reid.

"Alumni" returning to the Boys Ranch with their families, or professional men such as doctors and dentists visiting the Ranch to volunteer their services, will be able to stay overnight in this rustic guest house, a gift of the John E. and Nellie J. Bastien Foundation.

11 YEARS OLD AND STILL GROWING

The Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch celebrated its 11th birthday on Sunday, October 6, with ceremonies dedicating new facilities valued at over $250,000.

The dedication address was delivered by Governor Claude Kirk, who praised Florida's Sheriffs for the "great job" they have done in developing the Boys Ranch as a nationally famous home for needy and worthy boys.

Pointing to Ranchers in the audience, he said: "These young men are a great example of what can be done for youth." Then he went on to contrast the accomplishments of the Boys Ranch with the inadequate job the State of Florida has done in its child care institutions.

The new facilities "unwrapped" for public viewing during the dedication rites included the Joe and Frances Diaz Administration Building, valued at $130,000; the John E. Bastien and Nellie J. Bastien Guest House, an overnight lodging place for Boys Ranch alumni and other special guests, valued at $20,000; the James P. Towey Foundation Memorial Medical and Dental Clinic, valued at $50,000; and a new sewer system valued at $60,000.

The birthday celebration opened with a free barbecue prepared under the supervision of Suwannee County Sheriff Duke McCallister and served by Live Oak Jaycees.

Special music was provided by the Suwannee High School Band under the direction of Thomas F. Fowler.

Although not pictured on these pages, the new sanitary sewer system is an important addition to the Boys Ranch. Many contributors, too numerous to mention, financed the project.

Governor Claude Kirk presented the dedication address.

Rancher Gaston Barber introduced the Governor.

Pinellas County Sheriff Don Genung was the master of ceremonies.

Sheriff M. J. Daffin, Chairman of the Ranch Trustees, delivered official greetings to visitors and special guests.

Rancher Scott Chinoweth, President of the Boys Ranch Council, delivered the invocation.

Before an audience of hundreds of visitors from all sections of the state, Boys Ranch Administrator Harry Weaver expressed appreciation to the many good friends and supporters who made the new facilities possible.

FUTURE VOTERS CAPTIVATED BY GOVERNOR KIRK AT BOYS RANCH BIRTHDAY PARTY

Governor Claude Kirk made a big hit with youngsters attending the dedication ceremonies celebrating the 11th anniversary of the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch. He joked with a boy wearing a "Wallace for President" necktie; shook hands with Suwannee County Junior Deputy Sheriffs; charmed the small fry and patiently signed autographs. # MORE BOYS RANCH BIRTHDAY PARTY PICTURES

These two men have played important roles in staffing and equipping the medical and dental clinic. They are William C. Smith (left), of Tallahassee, president of Southeastern Surgical Supply Co., who is allowing the Ranch to purchase clinic equipment at cost; and Dr. E. G. Haskell, Jr., Tallahassee physician, who is raising funds among his colleagues in the medical profession to equip the clinic and pay the salary of a full-time registered nurse. He is also asking Florida's doctors to staff the clinic on a rotating volunteer basis which will provide a visiting doctor at least once a week the year 'round. During the dedication ceremonies Dr. Haskell received a Lifetime Honorary Membership in the Florida Sheriffs Association as a token of appreciation for the outstanding support he has given the Boys Ranch.

Former Rancher Mike Edwards and his girl friend, Becky Gill, of Live Oak, were given a place of honor on the speakers' platform and an enthusiastic round of applause. Now wearing the uniform of a Hillsborough County Deputy Sheriff, Mike was recently discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps after having been wounded in action in Viet Nam.

Trustees of the Bastien Foundation, James H. Towey, Carl Springer and David Lowell, were given special recognition for making possible the funds that built the Bastien Guest House. Volusia County Sheriff Rodney Thursby (right), Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Boys Ranch Trustees, presented Lifetime Honorary Memberships in the Florida Sheriffs Association to Mr. Springer and Mr. Lowell, then announced that Mr. Towey (left) had received a lifetime membership earlier.

LSD

IDENTIFICATION — LSD is an odorless, tasteless, and colorless chemical which can be positively identified only by laboratory examination. LSD may be encountered as home-made capsules or tablets or in powder or liquid form. The drug is frequently disguised through application to common objects carried on the person such as sugar cubes, chewing gum, crackers, cookies, postage stamps, and even personal jewelry. LSD is known to the user as "acid", "the chief", and "the hawk".

ABUSE — LSD may be taken into the system by eating, sniffing, or injecting. A quantity as small as 1/280,000 of an ounce causes symptoms which include:

- hallucinations
- panic
- distortion and intensification of color and sound perception
- inability to determine between fact and fantasy
- personality changes
- impulses toward violence and suicide
- psychosis

Permanent insanity may be the end result.

The mental effects of LSD are totally unpredictable — there is no guarantee of a "return trip". The drug experience may last from eight to ten hours or more depending on the dosage. In some cases the effect of the drug has worn off only to suddenly recur as long as two months later without additional use of LSD by the individual.

It has been suggested that the use of LSD in the treatment of alcoholics and mental patients could be beneficial. Psychiatrists, however, are quick to point out that even under these ideal conditions the results are not wholly predictable. Thus, an "experimentation" by those who obtain their LSD supplies thru illegal channels and take the drug under unsupervised conditions can only lead to tragic results.

Competent medical researchers are now reporting that they have established a link between the use of LSD and permanent brain damage. There is also strong evidence indicating that LSD may alter the chromosome structure and result in the birth of malformed or otherwise defective children.

Some of the physical effects associated with the use of LSD include:

- dilated pupils
- increase in blood pressure, heart rate, and blood sugar

The information on this page is reprinted from a booklet entitled "Your Decision" compiled by the Pinellas County Sheriff's Department, the St. Petersburg and Clearwater Police Departments, the Pinellas County Board of Public Instruction, the Junior Board of Directors of the Gulf Coast Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, Inc., and the Pinellas County Medical Society. The booklet is used in a program designed to fight drug abuse in the public schools.

- nausea
- chills, flushes, and irregular breathing
- trembling
- sweating of the hands

Sleep becomes virtually impossible until at least eight hours after the LSD episode is over; pupils are so widely dilated that the user frequently protects himself against the light with dark glasses, even at night.

LSD users develop an unusual personality characteristic which is described as a "missionary complex". They feel that everyone, particularly their friends and loved ones, must use the drug; and users become highly persuasive and persistent in encouraging such use.

The use of LSD can have disastrous consequences and may necessitate extensive psychiatric treatment.

Because of the growing abuse of LSD, the only licensed manufacturer of the drug in the United States voluntarily ceased production in April 1966. Therefore drug abusers will be using LSD of untested purity and strength.

DEPENDENCE — The use of LSD may develop a psychological dependence.

THE LAW — Florida law makes the illegal use and sale of LSD (and other hallucinogenic drugs) a felony and provides:

"Upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or shall be imprisoned in the State penitentiary for not more than two years or both. . ."

Second and subsequent convictions may result in imprisonment of up to ten years and a fine of $10,000.

Regulations passed by the U. S. Government concerning LSD are similar to those in Florida and violations of these laws can lead to imprisonment in a Federal institution.

Drug Abuse Is Deadly

Criminal Slum of Hate and Horror

SAN FRANCISCO — Drugs called "speed" (from the amphetamine family) are helping to change the Haight-Ashbury area from a "hippie haven" to a teen-age criminal slum of hate and horror, according to United Press International.

Almost all of the 20 or so daily admissions to San Francisco General Hospital because of drugs are suffering acute psychotic episodes resulting from "speed".

Dr. Ernest Dernburg, chief psychiatrist at the volunteer Haight-Ashbury medical clinic explains: "These kids certainly are not the same passive and withdrawn hippies of a year ago. Most of them are either delinquent characters or suffering from very serious mental disturbances."

The amphetamines are stimulants used by physicians in small doses to combat mild depressions and cut appetites. Dr. Dernburg believes millions of American housewives with the drugs in their medicine cabinets have a bit of the habit.

But the kid who is a "speed freak" may take 4,000 milligrams a dose, or nearly 300 times the housewife's; and its like racing the human engine at high speed for a long period.

ONE-WAY TICKET

Should everyone have the right to LSD?

"Emphatically not," said Albert Rosenfeld, Science Editor for Life magazine. "Those who are vociferously pushing this point of view think of themselves as courageous, pioneering individuals. But an LSD trip is not always a round trip. What the LSD user may be buying is a one-way ticket to an asylum, a prison or a grave."

INHALE — THEN TO JAIL

TAMPA — It was the wrong place and the wrong time for glue sniffing.

Philip Frasier, 20, found this out when Judge Walter N. Burnside caught him inhaling glue fumes from a paper bag during a criminal court trial.

He was sentenced to six months in jail for contempt of court and he also faced the possibility of being charged with "glue sniffing", a misdemeanor which carries another possible six months sentence.

NARCOTICS RAID APPARENTLY SPOILED TEEN-AGE PARTY PLANS

STUART — Plans for a teen-age party with drugs as the featured attraction were apparently broken up by the Martin County Sheriff's Department when deputies raided a residence south of here and held a 28-year-old man on charges of possession of narcotics. While the raiding officers were waiting for the suspect to arrive at his home, some 20 teenagers showed up and said they were "looking for a party". They were detained briefly and released. The picture here shows Sheriff Roy Baker (right) and Deputy Sheriff Slater Grose checking drugs confiscated in the raid. (Photo by Ed Gluckler.)

The user, who takes it orally or by injection, may experience a flash of euphoria followed by a feeling of bodily well-being - - not the sensual visions of LSD.

The price is days without sleep or food, serious malnutrition, acne, distorted judgment, horrible hallucinations and psychotic breakdowns, Dr. Dernburg says.

The "speed freak" uses a variety of amphetamines, including methedrine, benzadrine, dexedrine, dexamil, desoxyn and ritalin.

To fight "speed's" spread the California Legislature passed a new law making its possession a felony. But Dr. Dernburg says: "Laws . . . have not been effective in the past and I don't think they will be in the future.

"The only answer is education. The story must be given to the young in factual objective and non-shocking terms."

It's a Quiet, Peaceful Place - - - Most of the Time

MADISON — To visitors, Madison County appears to be a quiet, peaceful place with little to raise the blood pressure except the annual tobacco auctions and some rip-roaring high school football games.

Most of the time it is that kind of a place, but Sheriff Simmie Moore can tell you there are also occasions when things get pretty lively.

One such incident rippled the placid surface late in 1957 when two high school girls were hacked and bludgeoned to death near Tallahassee; and a suspect in the murder was traced to Madison County.

Sheriff Moore played a key role in that case and public interest reached a high pitch here when the gruesome killing drew nationwide attention.

Two recent manhunts also provided action and excitement equal to a Saturday night western movie.

One of them materialized when four armed Negroes robbed Aman's Grocery Store in neighboring Taylor County.

A Taylor County officer had passed the store earlier, and, when he heard the armed robbery report, was able to give a description of the car he had seen parked there.

Road blocks were set up on routes leading from the scene of the crime, and a radio alert went out to neighboring counties.

Madison County Deputy Sheriff Vernon Underwood picked up the radio report while cruising along Route 150 in his patrol car; and shortly afterward he spotted the getaway car traveling in the opposite direction.

He spun around, took after the suspects, pulled them over to the side of the road and radioed for assistance which arrived within a short time.

In just 30 minutes after the crime, the four suspects were under arrest; and the loot from the store, consisting of cash and 29 cartons of cigarettes, had been recovered. A .38 calibre pistol, two shotguns and a .22 rifle were also found in the getaway car.

In a second manhunt, Madison and Suwannee County officers caught a fast-moving burglar after three sleepless nights of tramping the woods, fields and swamps.

Bloodhounds were used on three different occasions and many law enforcement agencies joined in the chase, including the Madison and Suwannee County Sheriff's Departments, the Live Oak Police Department, the State Beverage Department and the Florida Highway Patrol.

Two nights after the chase started, Sheriff Moore learned that the Western Auto Store had been burglarized, and guns

Also pictured are Florida Highway Patrol Cpl. Joe Peavy and Trooper B. W. Daniel. The apprehension of Billard was reported to have cleared up four breaking and entering cases in Madison, Florida; and three in Moultrie, Georgia. (photo by Tommy Greene, Madison County Carrier.)

This was "the end of the trail" for four armed robbery suspects who were captured by Madison County Deputy Sheriff Vernon Underwood some 30 minutes after a rural grocery store had been held up in neighboring Tay-

and ammunition had been taken. Apparently the fugitive was keeping up with his "night work", even though he was "on the run".

Finally, during the third night, the officers closed in on the fugitive near Mt. Olive Church, in neighboring Suwannee County, and Sheriff Moore nabbed him as he was hiding in a sagebrush field.

The suspected burglar, identified as Kenneth Billard, of Garland, Texas, was attired in a military camouflage jacket and was carrying a supply of candy, a thermos bottle, insect repellant, a diamond ring and several hundred dollars in currency.

A .38 calibre pistol was found on the ground where he had been hiding, and he had a .32 calibre pistol and ammunition in his pocket. The guns were reported to have been identified as stolen from the Western Auto Store.

Suwannee County Sheriff-Elect Buddy Phillips took Billard into custody and later released him to Madison County Officials who charged him with breaking and entering.

Three Moultrie, Ga., charges of breaking and entering were also filed against him.

Then, for a short time at least, Madison County returned to its quiet, peaceful ways.

$75,000 FOR NEW RESIDENCE COTTAGE AT BOYS RANCH

TAMPA — Hillsborough County Sheriff Malcolm Beard (left) gratefully accepts a check from Mr. Fred K. Conn, of Tampa, who has pledged $75,000, from the Conn Memorial Foundation, Inc., to build a new residence cottage at the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch. There are presently five cottages at the Ranch with a total capacity of 100 boys. The new Conn Cottage will provide living quarters for 16 additional boys and a married couple employed as houseparents. It will also incorporate many design improvements developed by the Ranch staff through 11 years of child care experience. Mr. Conn was one of the first major contributors after the Boys Ranch was founded in 1957 and he has been a Lifetime Honorary Member of the Florida Sheriffs Association since 1959. Conn Memorial Foundation was recently voted a Lifetime Honorary Membership in the Boys Ranch Builders Club as an expression of appreciation for the residence cottage gift.

JUNIOR POSSE RAISES FUNDS FOR BOYS RANCH

BRADENTON — Horsemanship isn't the only thing learned by members of the Manatee County Sheriff's Junior Mounted Posse. They also get some practical experience in citizenship by raising funds for the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch through benefit horse shows and other activities. This picture shows Capt. John Denton and Immediate Past Capt. Rocky Pier presenting the results of the Posse's efforts to Sheriff R. W. Weitzenfeld — a $100 check for the Boys Ranch.

THEFT DETERRENT

Your new car is stolen. You report the theft. A deputy sheriff walks up to a parked car, checks a number visible through the windshield on the driver's side, then waits for the thief to return to your car so an arrest can be made.

How did the deputy know it was your car? Not by the license tag number, which any thief worth his salt would change at once; but by the serial number.

Beginning January 1, 1969, a new Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard will require that serial numbers of all new cars be placed in a position visible to a viewer from outside the automobile. The four major American auto manufacturers are already complying with the standard on 1968 cars.

BOOKS BEHIND BARS

MARIANNA — Jackson County Sheriff Barkley Gause has created a library for prisoners in the county jail and is accepting contributions of new and used books from residents of this area.

"Eye in the Sky" is "Pain in the Neck" to Crooks

CLEARWATER — Lt. George McNally is Sheriff Don Genung's "eye in the sky" — and a pain in the neck for Pinellas County's lawbreakers.

A pilot, Lt. McNally is on call to fly low altitude patrols when highway traffic gets snarled, or when assistance is needed in search and surveillance assignments. Another officer usually rides "shotgun" with him.

"It's astounding what you can see from an altitude of 900-1,000 feet (minimum allowed by the FAA); and if you know the area to be covered, you can spot suspicious changes in an instant," Lt. McNally said.

"It's easy to spot things like abandoned cars in the woods, and you can also see people running and you can direct operations on the ground."

A white object in the woods caught McNally's attention while he was checking the area. He circled, then reported by radio that the object was a white sports car abandoned without wheels.

Soon a patrol car was dispatched to the scene and the sports car was identified as one that had been stolen a short time earlier. "If we hadn't spotted it," McNally said, "the thieves would probably have come back to strip it some more."

Air surveillance saves time, manpower and money. In one instance an area that was too wet for the use of bloodhounds and could only be traversed on foot, was completely scanned from the air in five minutes during a search for a missing person. On foot the same search would have taken days.

McNally says a plane has a big advantage over a patrol car in surveillance work - - even at night.

He has followed cars running "Bologna" tickets and cash; and not once has the gambling suspect been aware that he was being "tailed".

"It's surprising" Lt. McNally said,

"how you can keep one car in sight on the highway, on a causeway, or off the road, even at night. It rarely gets too dark to see."

His boss, Sheriff Don Genung, is a strong believer in air surveillance, and is already studying the feasibility of helicopters as the "patrol cars of the future".

SHADES OF BONNIE AND CLYDE

ARCADIA — It was like a scene from the movie "Bonnie and Clyde" when DeSoto County Sheriff Frank Cline and his deputies arrested two young couples from the midwest on charges of robbing a nursery in neighboring Highlands County. The foursome was identified as Barbara Jean Lolor, 18; Hope E. Giddon, 18; Jerry R. Balridge, 28; and Richard Norman Thompson, 29. Sheriff Cline is shown inspecting a .22 revolver found in the white Mustang in which the suspects were riding. Also found in the car were snapshots of the couples, including some in front of farmhouses in the midwest and others at historical sites in the southeast. Taking snapshots was a favorite pastime of Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow when they terrorized the southwest prior to World War II. (Photos from THE ARCADIAN, weekly newspaper.)

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE

The do's and don'ts of traffic laws are intended to save lives on our highways. Like most preventatives, they work best before the trouble starts. After the trouble, it's the penalties of the law that apply. Obey the do's and don'ts so you won't have to pay the penalties.

No one has any use for the drunk driver. But on the highway, the social drinker is a bigger hazard. He's more common, and he doesn't realize that his vision, judgment, and reactions are impaired. He thinks he's safe as anyone.
